

Chinese Lantern Festival

Celebrated on the 15th day of the first Chinese lunar month, the Lantern Festival traditionally marks the end of the Chinese New Year (Spring Festival) period and the start of Spring. It's Friday, February 26 in 2021.

Traditionally people will go out to look at the moon, send up flying lanterns, fly bright drones, have a meal, and enjoy time together with family and friends in gardens, parks and natural areas.

This might be something you would like to celebrate with your family.

You could make some lanterns to decorate your house and garden, maybe try cooking a Chinese meal and go and look at the moon.
