

Hi Everyone,

I hope that you are all well and still reading .....

When we encouraged you all to choose books that would keep you reading for some time, we had no idea that you would not be able to visit the library again for this long. I hope that the books you chose have been read, and were enjoyable.

Whilst I have been at home, I have been reading some new books that are to be added to the library and I am currently preparing reviews of these to give you a sneak preview and also some details of a few not so new books, that you might not have noticed before.

I understand that you might not be unable to access these books right now, which can be frustrating. So why not start a 'Books to Read' list to use in the future. (I always have one on the go) So if something catches your eye on our website or elsewhere, make a note of it.

You might have noticed by now the new book quizzes, that have been added and also some challenges for you to tackle, including the one detailed below by the Hampshire School Library Service.

Hampshire School Library Service #ReadAtHome Challenge.

You can access this via <https://sls.hias.hants.gov.uk> all you need to you is complete at least 6 book reviews via the site, after which you can download your certificate of participation. They also have a link, 'Resources for lockdown' that gives you a range of activities and websites to offer variety during the lockdown period which I hope will find useful and enjoyable.

Whatever books you have access to at home right now, whatever you're reading, curl up, enjoy it, even if it is, that favourite one yet again!

Take care and stay safe.

Mrs Smith
