

Thursday 3rd December 2020

Penelope's blog

This week was amazing. On Monday, we wrote some paragraphs for a sketch. At the time, I didn't really like my writing, but it was ok. The rest of the day we had really nice teachers (Mrs Burns and Mrs St. John). On Tuesday we chose coloured bits of card and Mr Downing gave the people who needed a line guide (me) a line guide. I drew some lines for myself then got started writing my paragraphs. Like I am now, but typing...? I didn't get to finish it, so the next day when the rest of the class did the Friday Quiz I finished off my work. Yesterday we got either a black or white piece of paper (A3). We got to choose! I glued my paragraphs on around the outside. Then I put my picture of Saturn in the middle. Then I put my title in yellow and blue. Then the torture was over, we got to go home. Leading on to today, I went to go help Mrs White. I had to carry some tables and sort out some drawers.